DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings were received on 5/22/06. These drawings are approved.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-3 and 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by McNeely et al. (6,591,852). This rejection was made in the previous Office Action (mailed 11/21/2005). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1743

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McNeely et al. (6,591,852) in view of Kellogg et al. (6,063,589). This rejection was made in the previous Office Action (mailed 11/21/2005). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 5/22/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant has argued that McNeely does not meet the requirements of claim 1 and is the opposite of the present invention since the present invention requires that the trunk channel be separately emptied while liquid is withheld in the branch channel (page 6, lines 7-8).

Applicant appears to be arguing beyond the scope of the claim as currently written. Claim 1 as written does not require that the trunk channel be empty while the branch channel remains filled. Claim 1 states that the arrangement of elements "permit the fluidic contents of the trunk channel to be flushed through the fluidic outlet while the fluidic outlet while the branch channel remains substantially filled”.

The Examiner submits that flushing the current contents of the trunk channel does not require that the channel be emptied. Therefore, the contents of the trunk channel may be flushed simply by adding an additional volume of fluid through the fluid inlet large enough to displace the current contents of the trunk and branch channels. If one were to take the scenario shown in Figure 2D where stopping means “b” has just failed and allowed the fluid from the branch channel to the trunk channel and the provided a volume of fluid through the inlet substantially larger than the volumes of the branch and trunk channels then the current contents of the trunk channel will be forced through the fluidic outlet. In addition, the Examiner presumes that since the valve function has been destroyed at point ‘b’, then the additional fluid flowing through the trunk channel would also enter the branch channel at point ‘a’ and flow through the branch channel. This would meet the limitation from claim 1 which states that the branch channel remain substantially filled while the contents of the trunk channel is flushed.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 1743

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
